Investment in equity strategies involves substantial risk and has the potential for partial or complete loss of funds invested. Results presented include reinvestment of all dividends and other earnings.

Investing in non-U.S. securities including ADRs involves significant risks, such as fluctuation of exchange rates, that may have adverse effects on the value of the security. Presentation of Index data does not reflect a belief by Henry James International that any stock index constitutes an investment alternative to any Henry James International equity strategy or is necessarily comparable to such strategies. Among the most important differences between the Indices and Henry James International strategies are that Henry James International equity strategies may (1) incur material management fees, (2) concentrate investments in relatively few stocks, industries, or sectors, (3) have significantly greater trading activity and related costs, and (4) be significantly more or less volatile than the Indices.
